LEGO® MINDSTORM®
Robotic Camp
For Beginners

This camp will introduce students to the engineering process and the mechanics of simple machines using gears, pulleys, and levers. Students will work with Lego® products as well as various recycled materials and their own creativity to design and build robots that they will program using Lego WeDo® software. Programming activities will guide students through the process of sequencing commands and the concept of repeats to have their robots perform desired actions. Perfect for students with no previous experience. This hands-on course exposes children to basic robotics via LEGO®MINDSTORMS®. This program is a great way to cultivate an interest in technology and science in young students. By starting out with what is referred to as a programmable brick and adding wheels, gears, levers, and pulleys, students will learn how to build simple machines and mechanisms. This is an excellent way for children to spend part of the summer learning about science, technology, teamwork, and problem solving skills through robotics. Fun and educational!
